Eli works mainly with employment law. Her practice covers all aspects of employment law, including pension. She has considerable experience with negotiating and solving individual disputes in employment. In addition, she also has extensive experience with restructuring and downscaling processes, business transfers and cross-border employment issues. She is frequently used as a lecturer on various topics in employment law. Chambers and Partners, Legal 500 and the Norwegian Financial Daily have ranked Eli as one of Norway's most prominent experts on employment law.

Eli Aasheim is described by a client as "probably one of the best and most experienced in employment law, she is very competent and almost always available to respond to our requests and always focused on our needs." She has particular expertise in transfers of undertaking and down-scaling.
